

THOUSANDS OF SOLDIERS PARADE IN NEW YORK CITY

Pay Honor to Washington Before Five Hundred Thousand Gotham Civilians

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—If the spirit of George Washington could have been abroad in New York this afternoon and there were many who felt it was the soul of America's great chieftain must have thrilled with pride.

There was a parade of soldiers on Fifth avenue, nearly 10,000 of them. But Fifth avenue has seen so many parades there was nothing novel in a military pageant. New Yorkers have cheered loyally all kinds and conditions of soldiers; have cheered, and enthusiastically. They didn't cheer today. They felt more like weeping. What they saw was more than a parade. It seemed to them a solemn dedication. Five hundred thousand men and women, children too, stood for two hours or more in a sweeping snow storm and a stinging wind to see their sons and brothers and sweethearts marching by—men of the national army, not regulars or volunteers, but drafted men. The men in line were New York's own and they were typical of the great polyglot city.

Swarthy Armenians strode side by side with fair haired Scandinavians. Irish boys rubbed elbows with Jews. Italians trudged beside Poles. Here and there was a Chinaman and here and there a face that was typically Yankee. Sons of Sons and Daughters of the Revolution marched with boys whose father was a soldier a generation ago.

Five months ago the same boys had rambled thru the same streets a non-descript throng of individuals, clerks and mechanics, bookkeepers and brokers, grocers boys and long-shoremen—representing almost every trade and profession and almost every race under the sun. They were the raw material from which armies are made. They came back today members of the 77th Division National Army, Camp Upton, welded into military units.

A regiment of engineers was followed by two brigades of infantry, a battalion of colored infantry, a battery of field artillery with horses slipping and sliding in the snow and an ambulance company. The negroes were given generous applause. Bringing up the rear a great feature of a Washington's birthday parade was the grim British tank Britannia with the Stars and Stripes flying beside the Union Jack. A one pounder in the forward turret kept up an intermittent cannonade as the huge steel monster rumbled along behind the marching men.

"I'm proud of my men," said Brigadier General Evans M. Johnson, commanding at Camp Upton as the last of them swung past the reviewing stand at the public library and Secretary of the Navy Daniels turned to grasp the soldier's hand.

"I am very much pleased with the splendid showing of the men of the national army," said Secretary Daniels, "and I was especially proud of the colored men."

TWELVE FORCED TO KISS STARS AND STRIPES

NOKOMIS, Ill., Feb. 22.—Twelve men suspected of disloyalty were forced to kiss the flag here last night by men who visited their homes. In another part of town a farefare demonstration was given for twelve drafted men who left for the National Army cantonment.

The demonstration began in the afternoon when Folkert Wolf, a farmer accused of making disloyal remarks, was seized and forced to kiss the flag. Wolf then made defiant remarks and a free-for-all fight resulted. Several men who sided with Wolf were beaten. Wolf again was forced to kiss the flag and to take an oath of loyalty.

COAL PRODUCTION LESS

Washington, Feb. 22.—Bituminous coal production in January was at the lowest rate since September, 1916. In making public the figures today the geological survey blames the slump entirely on railroad congestion. The January output was 42,725,000 tons, an average of 1,643,000 tons daily.

"In the face of a need greater than ever before," said the survey's statement, "the country entered the second month of the year some 5,000,000 tons behind the mark set in January 1917."

NATIONAL ARMY SOLDIERS PLOT AGAINST U. S.

Four Are Held In Guard House Awaiting Presidential Warrant. Had Plotted to Shoot Their Officers.

Camp Lewis, Tacoma, Wn., Feb. 22.—Four National Army soldiers are held in the guard house today awaiting a presidential warrant from Washington which will mean their internment as enemy aliens who plotted not only to shoot their officers the first time they got into action in Europe but also to deliver all the American soldiers in their organization to the German army.

The names of the men under arrest have been withheld by the judge advocate pending receipt of advices from Washington. A general cleanup of enemy aliens at Camp Lewis is in full swing, officers said today. Thirty-four were discharged today from the service. Altogether about 200 men have been weeded out from ranks of the 91st division and the work is not yet completed. The internment or prosecution of those discharged today rests with the federal civil authorities.

Will Be Court Martialled

Washington, Feb. 22.—Officials of the judge advocate general's office said today that any National Army soldiers charged with plotting treason would be tried by military court martial and if found guilty would be tried by military court martial and if found guilty would be liable to the death penalty. No report on the arrests at Camp Lewis had reached the judge advocate general.

Action to be taken depends entirely on whether the men under arrest were apprehended while still in the military service or after they had been discharged previously on grounds of holding enemy sympathy.

It still in the service they would be dealt with under military law. If they were discharged from the army and then arrested military authorities would simply report the cases to the department of justice and hold the prisoners.

MORE COMMANDEERING OF BELGIANS BY GERMANS

Huns Using Young Men for Military Work Behind their Lines—Flemish Deputy Fined.

Washington, Feb. 22.—Official despatches to the Belgian legation today told of the further commandering by the Germans of young Belgians for military work behind their lines and the fining of Louis Franck, a Flemish deputy, ten thousand francs for urging the Flemish people to stand steadfast in their resistance to German political intrigues.

Franck was taken before a military tribunal and was threatened with deportation, the despatches said, but despite the German concern over the spread of the movement against the authority of the self-styled council of Flanders, this threat was not carried out. The judgment declared that since the deputy was charged with having incited a spirit of opposition this was the last time that he could hope to escape with a fine.

Commandeering of men for work behind the German lines continues to grow, the despatches said. At Renaix, an industrial town in eastern Flanders 260 young men were seized, many being taken in the streets. Some had fled and the Germans threatened to take old men until the young ones returned.

Students were taken from the engineering school of Mons and sent to work at an aviation camp, while in Luxembourg, more than 600 young men have been taken from villages for military work.

FOUR MINERS ARE INSTANTLY KILLED

DECATUR, Ill., Feb. 22.—Four miners were almost instantly killed by an explosion of blasting powder in the Royal Collieries Coal Mine at Virden, twenty miles south of Springfield at 2:45 a. m. today. The dead are:

Leo Moffett, aged 19.
James Roberts, aged 19.
John Passera, aged 20.
George Osborne, aged 20.

The men had lowered 28 kegs of powder to the 300 foot level of the mine and in some manner the wires were short-circuited and the powder set off.

COME TO AN AGREEMENT.

Amsterdam, Feb. 22.—Advices from Berlin say that the franchise committee of the lower house of the Prussian diet has agreed in principle to the compulsory voting feature of the Prussian reform bill, although the government opposes it.

The rival plans of the nationalists and conservatives have been referred to a sub-committee for adjustment.

CLAIM CONDITIONS BETTER THAN IN CHICAGO'S GHETTO

Supervisor of Packers Relief Department Testifies in Stock Yards Wage Arbitration.

Chicago, Feb. 22.—Harvey C. Elford, supervisor of Armour & Co.'s employees' welfare and relief department, testified in the stock yards wage arbitration today that living conditions "back of the yards" are better than in Chicago's ghetto and other congested, overcrowded tenement house sections of the city's industrial centers. He admitted there were many families in the "back of the yards" district who lived in overcrowded, insanitary quarters and who might not be properly clothed and fed, but he said all of them were not employed at the stock yards and that many of these cases might be accounted for by the fact that the husband was either dead or had abandoned his family. Bad personal habits, lack of thrift and poor management of household affairs by either the husband or wife or both were mentioned as other causes which led to poverty and suffering by packing house employees.

The witness read figures from three of the largest stock yards savings banks to show that a large majority of the packing house employees were thrifty. In 1812 these banks had 14,249 savings accounts which increased to 25,486 in 1917. The total savings deposits in these banks increased from $3,148,580 in 1912 to $3,967,901 in 1917. He said a majority of the savings depositors were packing house employees. He said there were forty building and loan associations in operation in the district which had enabled thousands to buy their own homes.

The witness explained in detail the work done by the welfare and relief department of Armour & Co. A medical staff with five surgeons and three nurses, consulting surgeon, and a pathologist were employed in connection with the operation of an emergency hospital and laboratory. Last year 7,904 surgical and 2,113 medical cases were given treatment. Thirty-two thousand persons were vaccinated. He said the object was to furnish free medical attention to all employees unable to pay for treatment.

Attorney Frank P. Walsh for the employees vigorously attacked the statements of the witness on cross-examination and sought to show that the charity work done by the packers was relatively unimportant.

Attorney Walsh read a statement showing there were thirteen public charity agencies in the stock yards district which last year furnished relief to 13,000 families. He said at the tuberculosis dispensary there are at present 2,309 cases of consumption either now under treatment or under observation and that the principal disposing causes of the disease in the district as given by the attending physicians are:

Bad living conditions, improper food, bad conditions of employment, and lack of proper rest and recreation.

The county agent he said was called upon last month to furnish relief to 658 families.

It was brought out that nearly all the employed had purchased liberty loan bonds and were paying for them in weekly payments.

MUCH ACTIVITY IN AMERICAN SECTOR

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Feb. 22.—By the Associated Press.—Today the artillery bombardment was still more intense on the American sector northwest of Toul. Night and day, enemy projectiles are falling in towns and have been directed at a number of strategic points. The damage done has been unimportant.

Three American artillerymen have been wounded.

Our guns replied to the enemy with three shells for one, firing accurately on roads and enemy works. Shells were dropped on a party of seven Germans repairing wire entanglements. Some were wounded and the rest scattered.

Early this morning a small enemy party attempted to raid our lines and were driven off by rifle and machine gun fire after which artillery fire chased them back to their lines.

A trench mortar projectile fell on one of our trenches today killing three and wounding four. Rain has prevented aerial activity and the trenches and dugouts are flooded.

WEEGHMAN GIVES NOTICE TO "HOLDOUTS"

CHICAGO, Feb. 22.—Charles H. Weeghman, president of the Chicago Nationals, served notice today on players regarded as holdouts. He said that unless they came to terms before the departure of the club for the spring training camp, they will be obliged to remain at home and seek other employment.

"I shall not be bothered with holdouts this season," Weeghman said. "We did not make any big cuts in salaries despite the war. The majors cannot afford to pay enormous salaries and the players should be made to understand the situation confronting the club owners."

The club will leave for the training camp at Pasadena, Cal., early next month.

CORRESPONDENCE MADE PUBLIC

Chicago, Feb. 22.—Assistant State's Attorney Nicholas Michel today made public some of the correspondence seized in the raid on the Milk Producers Association which contributed to bringing about indictment of C. H. Potter, of Elgin, president of the association and seven others.

NEW YORK LABOR MEN ADDRESSED BY SEC. DANIELS

Says Prussian Belief that U. S. Labor Could Be Stampeded Has Been Shattered

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—The bitterest disappointment of the war for the Prussians has been the shattering of the "fatuous belief" that the labor of the United States could be stampeded by insidious propaganda. Secretary of the Navy Daniels declared in an address here tonight.

Speaking with Samuel Gompers at a patriotic mass meeting arranged by the American Alliance for Labor and Democracy, Mr. Daniels predicted that labor will not swerve from the patriotic ideals which have actuated it thus far and that when the war is over it will have won its own fight as well.

"I make no appeal to labor as a class," he said, "but tonight speak to men of labor organizations because they are a mighty force in our national life and are taking the lead in patriotic celebration of this holiday in the national metropolis. I bleed the day for appeal to any red blooded American has passed. It is a time rather for thanks to those who are engaged heart and soul and to point out not why they should serve but how and where they can make their efforts tell most for victory."

"We have been warned by Great Britain not to follow its mistake of sending its munitions workers and shipbuilders in the field, but to counsel them that the nation needs them most to fashion munitions and to hasten the production of ships. I pay tribute alike tonight to the men who in the biting cold have driven rivets in hurrying need, ships along with the men who, knee deep in mud, in France, withstand the onslaught of the Huns and the men on navy ships giving their lives to abate the submarine menace. They are all fully serving their country and entitled to its gratitude."

"The need of the hour is ships. The hammer that strikes a rivet is every whit as effective as the machine gun on the firing line itself. Not only ships for the navy, but ships for the merchant marine. Our soldiers must go with them and to those nations fighting side by side with us against the imperial German government must be sent the food that is absolutely vital to the maintenance of their military strength."

"Every man who fires one shot at the enemy when he might use a machine gun, every man who fails to be on the firing line when the need is sorest and every man who drives one rivet when he might drive two, is a Benedict Arnold in his heart and in his soul for slacking, delaying and sullen indifference is a treachery that may cost the life of our brothers and our sons."

"The factory where guns are moulded and munitions made in the shops where clothes are cut and shaped, in the forest where stands the virgin timber for our ships and airplanes—there as well as in France are the battle fields where the workers of America must prove themselves heroes or stand shamed before the world as traitors."

"Never before, in the history of human struggle, have the reactions of war been guarded against so carefully as in this day when America fights for her life. There is not a single body with any executive power that does not have upon it a representative of labor, sitting side by side with the representative of the employers and having equal voice in all those decisions that are concerned with the human element in industry."

"In the next few days the first of a series of historic meetings will be held in the office of the secretary of labor at Washington. Five representatives of the great employing interest and five representatives of the workers of America will meet in an honest effort to agree on principles and policies which shall govern relations between employers and workers during the war, in an effort to set down a program that shall safeguard every right and defend every duty."

"It is an open secret—I can talk about it freely now—that the real hope of the Prussians that America would never be effective in this war was insidious propaganda so misled by hired agitators as to insure nationwide strikes almost upon the declaration of war. Far bitter than the failure of the submarine to sweep the seas has been the failure of the German spy to tie this great republic hand and foot by stampeding labor organized and unorganized into something very nearly approaching a social revolution."

"Labor will continue its same wise policy and when this war is over it will have won its own fight as well."

"No hide-bound capitalist of that type who has been rapidly disappearing in this enlightened time, who made the name 'capitalist' something of a reproach, will dare then to rise and seriously announce his belief that labor should be suppressed with an iron hand. He will have no standing in the court of last resort—public opinion. For capital and labor are beginning to understand each other and are finding each other not as bad as they have been painted."

"We are getting together and we

WIDESPREAD EPIDEMIC OF STOMACH TROUBLE

PEORIA, Ill., Feb. 22.—With between 2500 and 3000 persons suffering from a strange stomach and bowel malady, the village of Washington, Tazewell county today reported the same epidemic had broken out there. Washington is twelve miles from Peoria and does not draw Peoria water to which some had attributed the origin of the trouble.

Dr. George Parker, city commissioner of health declared his belief tonight that the whole epidemic was merely a widespread grip infection and that it would cease with warmer weather.

Three representatives of the state department of health arrived this afternoon to investigate the situation.

Similar Cases in Chicago.

Chicago, Feb. 22.—A dozen cases of supposed epidemic poisoning, similar to those found in Peoria, were found today by Health Commissioner Robertson.

Mr. Robertson said tonight he feared a widespread outbreak, but had taken preventative steps.

Large consumption of cold storage foods, especially poultry was given by Mr. Robertson as a possible cause of the trouble here and in Peoria.

GERMANY-UKRAINE PEACE TREATY ADOPTED

BERLIN, Feb. 22.—via Amsterdam.—The main committee of the reichstag today adopted the peace treaty between Germany and the Ukraine.

Richtsa is about one hundred miles southeast of Riga and about fifty miles from Dvinsk. Antonopol is a village about twenty miles from Riehlitsa, it is presumed that the parliamentary messengers were carrying the formal acceptance of the German peace terms to General Hoffman who is somewhere along the Russian front.

MUST ENFORCE FOOD ADMINISTRATION'S RULE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—State food administrators were ordered today to enforce the food administration's rule requiring bakers to use 20 per cent of wheat flour substitutes in all bakery products by Feb. 24.

"This rule," a telegram sent to the administrators said, "is an important link in the food administration's wheat conservation program, upon the success of which depends our ability to supply the Allies with the wheat flour that is essential to their victory and ours. The list of substitutes is wide."

WANTS TO DO HER BIT

Washington, Feb. 22.—Miss Jane Gregory, daughter of the attorney general, applied to the food administration for an $80 a month position, giving as reference Col. E. M. House and the attorney general himself.

HEALTH CONDITIONS IN CAMPS IMPROVE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Health conditions in all the American army camps showed decided improvement during the week ending February 15 and for that week there was a lower death rate in all camps than at any other time since last November.

The regulars show the highest death rate 12.9 per thousand per year and their non-effective and admission rate show slight increases over the preceding week.

Deaths in all camps, regular army, National Guard and National Army, for the week totaled 177 of which 96 resulted from pneumonia. Fewer new cases of the more serious diseases, especially pneumonia and meningitis were reported as compared with last week.

AMERICAN BUSINESS MEN BEHIND NATION

National Security League Speaker Asserts Germany Made Mistake in Believing Business Men Would Support War.

Chicago, Feb. 22.—Germany made a vital mistake when she thought American arms would be ineffective because the American business men would not support the war. Wadill Catchings of New York, chairman of the war service committee of the United States chamber of commerce, told members of the National Security league at today's session of the national service congress here.

"Business men are giving their full support by deed as well as by word," he said. "They have supported the government in levying high tax—the income tax, the graduated excess profits tax and the numerous cash taxes. They have seen the need of price control and have given their united support to it. The sons of business men are at the front. The fathers seek the opportunity of also serving their country. If the material resources and the industrial energy of the country are to be used to the extent necessary to give our soldiers what they need, our trained men of great affairs must be called upon to assist in formulating the great program and in reaching the great decisions."

Mr. Catchings' address was made before 3,000 persons assembled from every part of the country to participate in the three days of meetings. His address followed that of Chief Justice John Winslow of the Wisconsin supreme court who discussed the "Overthrow of International Law and what it means to the World." Judge Winslow specified thirteen different violations of international law by the Germans, dwelling particularly on the invasion of Belgium which he termed a two fold violation because it abrogated treaties as well as Belgium's neutrality.

The address of Governor Charles E. Whitman of New York was postponed until tomorrow to permit the executive to speak at Peoria.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR DRAWS UPON EXPORTS

To Head New Divisions Created by Department Reorganization for War Service.

Washington, Feb. 22.—Experts on labor questions from all sections of the country, business men, labor leaders and economists have been drawn upon by the department of labor to head the new divisions created by the reorganization of the department for effective war service.

Otto Eidlitz, architect and builder of New York who heads the section on housing and transportation of workers, is the only appointee whose name has been made public, but it was said today that the other six probably would be announced tomorrow. They will administer the adjustment service, the conditions of labor service, the section on information and education, the section dealing with women in industry, the training and dilution service and the employment division.

Conferences between the joint board of representatives of capital and labor, which was appointed several days ago, will begin Monday at the department in an effort to outline a basis to govern relations between employers and workers during the war. The conferences and the administration of their decisions by the re-organized department will be in effect the first attempt to carry out a national and definite labor policy in this country.

The department plans a country-wide system of adjustment boards, to safeguard the nation from industrial disputes. A zone system is proposed under which the country would be divided into thirteen districts, in each of which would be constituted an adjustment board acceptable to employers and workers alike. Such boards would be adjusted representatives in each locality. In addition federal mediators would be sent out from Washington if necessary to compromise any differences.

With the new labor administration in operation the labor advisory board, headed by John Lind and in which Dr. L. C. Marshall has been the most active figure, probably will pass out of existence.

WILL RESUME SHIPPING.

Amsterdam, Feb. 22.—Advices received here from Berlin yesterday say that it was announced in the joint sitting of the reichstag that it was planned to resume shipping in the Black Sea after the mines have been cleared away. The plan is to expedite shipments to Germany from the Ukraine, Germany to supply agricultural machinery and implements in return for grain.

"North and Northwest of Jerusalem our advanced positions were slightly extended and secured."

DIES AT CAMP GRANT

Rockford, Ill., Feb. 22.—Private Benjamin F. Smith, Battery 331st field artillery, died at Camp Grant, Ill., today, after a long illness.

His home was in Lodi, Wis.

U. S. SOLDIERS NOW IN CHEMIN DES DAMES SECTOR

Units Under Instruction In Famous Sector in Patrol Fight With Germans

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Feb. 22.—In a patrol fight Americans from units under instruction in the famous Chemin Des Dames sector killed one German and captured another. One American was slightly wounded. * * * This is the first time it has been permitted to reveal the fact that new American units have entered the line. The troops have been there for some time, suffering slight casualties but their presence was kept secret until it was certain the enemy knew they were there.

Details of the patrol fight are as yet unavailable, beyond the unofficial report that the prisoner taken was captured single-handed by a young American from one of the New England states who during the engagement dropped into a shell hole on top of a German hiding there and later brought him in.

The American forces entered the line on one of the darkest nights through a shell-pitted region dotted with shell wrecked towns.

The French general commanding the sector, a hero of the Marne, greeted them as comrades in arms and kissed the American flag.

Thruout their period of service in the line these troops have displayed great eagerness to establish a record equal to or better than that of the troops holding the sector northwest of Toul.

The orders for them to leave their billets came suddenly a few weeks ago. The troops entrained and rode to the rail head nearest the position into which they were going. They knew whether they were bound and welcomed the opportunity to start the work of fighting the Germans. The units as they detrained were received by the French general commanding the sector, who kissed the flag reverently and then addressed the men, saying that he held them in the same regard as his own soldiers and that they were brothers in arms.

Fighting for the same great cause. He warned them to be cautious in dealing with the enemy over the distant hills. The French soldiers, he said, were skillful in hunting these "wild beasts" and were glad of the opportunity to pass along all they knew to their American comrades.

He recognized that they were courageous and anxious to test themselves against the enemy but advised that they should go slow at first. The troops made a long march to the line, singing at intervals to help the feet move faster and lighten the load they were carrying. They passed thru mile after mile of shell-scarred, desolate ground and thru a number of great piles of stones and debris which once were villages but now without a single house standing.

The scene of destruction on such a large scale impressed the Americans deeply and many of them expressed the hope that they would soon be able to help punish the perpetrators. The troops marched in and took up their positions without a hitch to the music of the roaring guns, both friendly and hostile, their flashes frequently stabbing the blackness of the night, first here and then there as far as the eye could see. On this occasion as on previous occasions, when American troops reached the front they were warmly welcomed by their French comrades.

An American general, with the troops had not been in the field two hours when the enemy dropped a number of six inch shells close by him. It was the general's first experience under fire, but he continued his work coolly remarking that he was more nervous than he thought he would be. The troops in this sector are virtually all husky specimens and there are many six footers among them. They come from a cold climate and quickly adapted themselves to the field conditions at this season.

The reserve units are quartered in the Alsine quarries nearby, which are 20 feet underground and one of which is capable of sheltering 3,000 men.

BRITISH ADVANCE TOWARD JERICHO

LONDON, Feb. 22.—The Jericho communication issued by the British war office today says:

"Yesterday morning after an uneventful night, our forces operating east of Jerusalem resumed their advance toward Jericho. Little opposition was encountered and at 8:20 a. m. Australian mounted troops entered the village, subsequently establishing themselves on a line of the Jordan and Wadi Ajaja. The weather continues bad with mist and heavy rain."

is exhausted, a proposal that has been rejected on first sight by every privately employed railway official
to whom it has ever been submitted,
comes forward with new force and vigor, now that the railroads have passed under government control.

WEST STATE PAVING.

Petitions seem to be the order of the day just now. The latest is to petition the city commissioners and board of improvement to enforce compliance with specifications in the completion of the paving on West State street. The people have been so patient with brick pile methods
and annoyances on that street, even to paying assessments before the work was half finished and in paying interest on the assessments before due, that it was presumed they would stand for almost anything. What are specifications for, anyway, that it should require a petition asking their enforcement?

DR. HARKER.

The proposition to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of Dr. Har-ker's connection with the Woman's College is most commendable. The doctor's administration of affairs of that institution has been very successful. He has not only built up the college but he has made for himself
a place among educators. He has the respect and love of many, not only in the direct line of his greatest efforts,
the school, but of all with whom he has been brought in contact. Dr.
Harker is a man who not only finds
time to attend to his own business
but to take a prominent part in affairs of his own city. He has been a strong power in good work in Jacksonville.

MANUFACTURED PATRIOTISM.

In almost every newspaper one picks up these days is a story telling
of the coming of some English, French or other allied officer to make an address to the citizens. In nearly all cases one reads that the speakers are sent out to tell the people of this country actual conditions as they exist in battlefields of Europe and to arouse patriotism.
Is it possible that the citizens of this country have strayed so far from the teachings of the men who wrote the Declaration of Independence and the teachings of Lincoln
that their patriotism and love of country is dead?

Is it possible that the citizens of the United States, the best country
on the face of the earth, are lacking
in appreciation of the advantages they enjoy? That it is necessary for a citizen of a foreign country to come over here and teach us patriotism?

We believe not. In fact we believe that patriotism is very much alive in this country. It surely is shown locally in the work the Red Cross is doing. Surely patriotism and love of country is behind the efforts of the women of the Red Cross in Jacksonville and Morgan county that has enabled them to accomplish the things they have since last September.

Surely patriotism was shown in the campaign for the Army Y. M. C.
A. and the Knights of Columbus war funds. Surely it has been shown in the acquiescence of the public to heatless days, meatless days, wheat-
less days and in fact all other requests made by the government.

It surely is a display of patriotism
to enlist voluntarily as thousands of young men have done thruout the country. It surely is a display of patriotism that thousands of young men, some of them married and with families have made no claim for exemption under the draft law.

It is not a far cry from Washington and Lincoln to the present time.
The spirit of liberty that inspired the soldiers of those days is still stirring
the breasts of the present day soldiers. No, patriotism is very much alive. We do not believe that the American people need any foreign speakers to stir them to patriotism and love of country. It is inherent in the breast of every true American.
We believe that it will be so long as time endures and that it is such
that will keep the stars and stripes
from ever going down to defeat before a foreign foe.

Rippling Rhymes By WALT MASON

WAR'S LESSONS.

We're learning something every day, of how to sidestep wanton
waste; we drink less milk, we smoke
less hay, we husband hair oil, salves
and paste. Our lives have been one grand sweet song, we've thrown our money to the cow; it's something we have needed long, the lesson we are learning now. I used to throw my shoes away, when they were frayed
around the soles, but now I wear them till they're gray, and have the cobble patch the holes. I used to wear my Sunday pants when they grew baggy at the knees, but now
my two old maidens are pressing for me duds like these. And people in adjacent flats like me,
would save the hard-earned bucks;
they're wearing prehistoric hats, and
buying soupbones more than ducks.
I used to buy the costly roast, all luxuries in town were mine; but now it is my frequent boast that I eat liver when I dine. In former times my wife reclined in indolence
that did not pay, but now I make her do her grind—she takes in washings by the day. By saying here and saving there, by trimming
where expenses are, I always have ten cents to spare, to buy myself
a good cigar.

SERVICE FLAG IS PRESENTED SCHOOL

Two Members of Signal School to Leave for Camp Taylor Monday—
Plan Demonstration of the Direction of Target Practice by Wireless in Central Park.

At the regular meeting of the students of the Morgan County Signal school held at the chamber of commerce rooms Friday night
recognition was given to two students of the school who are to leave Monday for Camp Taylor. A service
flag bearing two stars was presented. The young men who are to leave Monday are Clifford Strandberg and Eugene Dodswoth. Dodswoth joined the school just last week but has made very satisfactory progress during the few lessons which he has received. Strandberg prior to his entrance in the radio school had had some experience in Morse. He has very industriously pursued his course
with the school the last few weeks
and last night in the presence of students and visitors received messages at the rate of 17 words per minute.

The school has only been in progress a little over three weeks but has now enrolled twenty three members. It is the expectation that this enrollment will be increased. When the enrollment has reached such a figure that it is deemed advisable, Prof. Whisler will introduce some technical work. Some mathematics
will be taught as well as physics,
electricity and the elements of wireless. If the government will allow the school directors some small radio
equipment they will in the near future be able to attempt some field
maneuvers. With the present equipment it is the intention within the next few weeks to give the public a demonstration of the work being done by having a fake target practice. Chalk torpedoes will be used and will be shot from a spring gun
something on the order of a clay pigeon trap. The gunners' view will be obstructed from the mark or "enemy gun" and all firing will be directed by wireless. It is the present intention to have this demonstration
in the public park, the gunners possibly being located on the east side of the park with the target on the west side near Ayers Bank building.
This will be a mark or circle on the pavement. The men directing the fire will be stationed on the roof of the Ayers Bank building. The men in the park will have a canvas erected in front of them so that they will not be able to see the imaginary gun at which they are shooting and all directions and corrections of shots
will come by wireless from the observers on top of the bank building.
This is in line with the real radio
work done along the fighting fronts
today by wireless signals from the aeroplanes directing artillery fire.

Two young men who called at the school last night became so much impressed that they enrolled as students. Mayor Rodgers made a few remarks to the boys and then presented a name pinned the two stars
to the school service flag. Supt. of Schools H. A. Perrin was also present and spoke of the importance of the work in which the boys were engaged.

The members of the school are Anthony Branom, Emmet Miller,
Lemont Gist, Clarence Walsh, Warren
Recker, C. S. Davis, Donald Mc-Laren, William Howard Cruse, Raymond Hogan, Andrew Vieira, Carter
Clark, Emory Cruse, Frank Kelly,
Allen Kelly, Charles Clark, John
Macmillan, C. E. Strandberg, Roy
Lomb, Eugene Dodswoth, Fred
Johnson and Glenn Sooy.

JACKSONVILLE HIGH LOSES TO MT. STERLING

Local Players Defeated By Score of 21 to 14.

Coach Hoover's basketball team
of the high school met defeat at the hands of the Mt. Sterling high school five at Mt. Sterling Friday evening by the score of 21 to 14.
The game was a hard fought contest especially in the first half, and much roughness was indulged in by both sides, quite a number of fouls
being called. In the matter of free throws the Mt. Sterling players exceeded the local boys as they took four out of five chances while Jacksonville was unable to get a point out of six tries. At the end of the first half however, it appeared that Jacksonville would annex the game
as the score then stood 12 to 8.
Green and Fierke were working good in the forward positions and throwing baskets regularly. Soon after the opening of the second half, however, Fierke sustained a severe injury to his knee and was unable to finish in the forward position altho he continued the game,
being shifted by Coach Hoover to guard. Rexroat being taken out and Harney substituted in the forward position.

During the second half Mt. Sterling overcame Jacksonville's lead and won with the above stated score.
The contest was staged in the Mt.
Sterling opera house before a good sized crowd. The following is the summary and the line-up:

VALUE OF SMALL COLLEGE THEME OF JOHN A. BARBER

Former Illinois Man Talks to Morgan County Alumni—Speaker Tells Hearers that Motto Should be "He Profits Most Who Serves Best"—
Officers Elected.

The meeting and banquet of the Illinois College alumni association
at Academy hall last evening was a grand affair and a complete success.
The lateness of the hour compels
a very abbreviated report.
After a time socially all were summoned to the rectal hall where an excellent supper was served by the ladies of the Christian church in their usual faultless manner. Grace was said by Rev. Percy Epler of Indianapolis and after the eating was finished the feast of reason began.
President W. D. Wood took charge and performed his duties in a very felicitous and capable manner. He remarked that it was the 89th year
in the history of the college and said when the 50th was celebrated
two Beechers were with us and one,
an alumnus, called the college "Little Mother," a happy thought. It was fitting to meet and thus testify to our reverence for the name of the great man born 186 years ago today
and keep in mind his great characteristics; a man honored by poet,
historian and writers of all classes.

Springfield had been the home of
many loyal sons of the college; Jayne, Ridgely and others, none more loyal and zealous than Grout and now it was a pleasure to introduce a man of the class of 1894, John A.
Barber, who would speak on "The Small College in the World Crisis." Only a very few thoughts can be given of the very excellent address of the gentleman.

Pledges Loyalty to Illinois College.
"I feel it both a pleasure and honor to be here tonight and express my undying loyalty to Illinois college and testify to the good I received while a student here. While Springfield has many loyal sons of Illinois College the men of Jacksonville are her most staunch supporters."

The gentleman then gave a number of humorous experiences which he had while a prep student and testified most eloquently to the good he received while in the college. He had forgotten how to translate Latin and could hardly solve a problem in trigonometry but he has been taught to think and use his mental facilities
to the best advantage, a valuable asset all thru his life.

He paid a tribute to Principal Harker and assistant G. L. Merrill
of the academy; President Tanner, Dr. Milligan, Prof. Johnston of the college. For the first ten or fifteen years after graduation he had not thought so much of the institution
but of later years it had been more
in his memory and he could say that the success he had achieved in life
was due to Illinois college.

He read a quotation from George Washington on the conservation of food and another from President Wilson, wonderfully like the former.
We are in a war now to decide whether men shall be free to think for themselves or whether a few shall do the thinking for all.

The average man takes too little interest in public affairs and lets
the politicians legislate and do many questionable things. James J. Hill, the great railroad builder, said that popular government was an experiment and it was a question of a hundred million people so widely scattered and becoming stratified would hold together firmly.

The Pilgrim Fathers were possibly severe and austere but they had the qualities which were indispensable
in laying the foundations of a real government. Had they been otherwise our country would have been a failure. The grand work of the Yale band was a proof of the worth of the Pilgrim Fathers.

Value of Small College.

The great and invaluable work of the small college is the fact that it
trains men to think, to rely on themselves, to have stamina. A man in a large university is an atom insignificant; in a small college he is a large fraction of the whole; he is criticized, praised, aided, denounced
if wrong and in every way, if at all worthy, to be a full grown man mentally and physically and the annals of the present great conflict will show how vastly valuable are the services of the men from the small colleges.

In my time in Illinois college
there was no aristocracy. The student who worked his way thru and had least means stood as well as the son of the rich man if he made good in the class room.

Ministers are the most useful men
in the community and do the most for the least money of any class of people. Think of the great sacrifices the founders and early faculties of the college made. How great is the fruitage of their labors and how grandy they will tell in the great conflict. Let it ever be our motto,
"He profits most who serves best."

Dean Cochran then favored the audience with a fine violin solo.
Prof. Kritch accompanying and received a hearty encore.

Illinois College in the War.

Dean Hayden, so popular with the students, spoke next. He said there were now in the army 127 men from Illinois college, and he gave some interesting statistics regarding the years in which they had attended the institution. For instance, 19 were of the class of 1918. The spectacle causes both pride and solemnity. He told how many officers were among the number, which fact is a great compliment to the quality of the men the college has given the country. A high motive inspired these men and they will be heard from in no uncertain manner during the war.

At this point the society called for the records of the last year and Secretary Hugh P. Green read the minutes of the last annual meeting.
Election of officers came next with
the following result:

President—A. C. Rice.
Vice president—T. V. Hopper.
Secretary—Carl S. Robinson.

Future of the College.

R. I. Dunlap, chairman, spoke regarding the alumni fund which he said was in a gratifying condition
and a valuable asset of the college.
There were thirty memorial memberships, 449 members in all; three new memorial memberships had been added. R. H. Beggs, '68 by his wife; Edward A. Ayers, '77 by the New York alumni association,
and Willard '86 by his parents. It was desirable to establish a soldiers'
fund of $1000 in order to aid the men at the front and pay their dues.

President Rammekamp was next.
He tendered the greetings of Jacksonville to the association and expressed his pleasure at the increasing loyalty of the alumni of the college, an improvement over past years. The income of the college had been depleted by enlistments
and aid might have to be asked to keep the college from a deficit. He spoke in glowing terms of the recent Chicago banquet and the speeches
there.

The greetings of the association
were ordered sent the students now
in France.
A message of sympathy and hope
for speedy recovery was ordered sent Frank A. Vanderlip.
The new president, A. C. Rice,
was introduced and the meeting
closed with singing the first stanza
of "America."

A BEAUTIFUL EMBLEM.
Proudly waving in the breeze in front of the Knights of Columbus
hall yesterday was a beautiful service flag about six feet by nine with 35 stars on it and several more due Monday. This patriotic organization is at the front with all that pertains to duty to the country and now
they have two flags, a large one and a smaller one and they look with just pride at the number of stars to which they are entitled.

city arrivals from Alexander yesterday.

O. HENRY IN THE TRENCHES
Need for Books at the Front—Public Library in Jacksonville Has Another Box Ready to Send To Soldiers.

The people of Jacksonville have been contributing books for the soldiers ever since last summer. They may be interested to know with what avidity the books are read. The following extract is taken from a letter by Mr. F. A. Lewis who has been serving in the American Field Ambulance abroad.

"For several weeks no reading matter could be located in the section to which I was attached. Finally one of the boys received a copy of O. Henry's 'Options' in a package from home and an hour of insane jubilation ensued. The book was seized by indelicate hands and torn into segments, each part representing a story. The pages of each story were pinned together. The original owner of the volume was selected to serve as section librarian."

We pored over those stories until the printing actually wore off the pages. When the 'Head Hunter' came to me for the seventh time, the only thing I could be sure of was the title. But I didn't need to read it. I could have told that tale almost by rote.

Just to show you what we thought of books, Breatano's Paris store was the second place we visited on our first leave from the front. The first place was a restaurant."

We have just received a new spring line of kid gloves, all shades and prices at Tomlinson's.

OPEN AID SCHOOL NEEDS BLANKETS

Attempt to Purchase Blankets for Sleeping Cots—Finds None on the Market.

The Open Air School needs warm, heavy blankets. Nearly all of the children on the roll are now in attendance and it is found that there are not enough blankets to supply their sleeping cots during the rest period from one to two o'clock each day.

The attempt to purchase heavy woolen blankets such as couch blankets, lap robes, heavy horse blankets, etc., has met with meager returns due to the fact that such blankets are off the market.

There is an urgent need for 6 or 8 heavy woolen blankets. If there are persons in the city who are willing to either donate or part with such blankets for this purpose, please call the office of the Superintendent of City Schools or the Open Air School.

SPORT NEWS

St. Louis, Mo., Feb.—With the signing of Leon "Red" Ames, three of the four leading pitchers with the St. Louis Nationals are under contract for the 1918 season. Gene Packard and Horstman are the other twirlers signed up.

Columbus, O., Feb.—The Ohio State University football eleven, twice winner of the Western Conference championship, is being riddled as a result of enlistments. Kelly Van Dyne, center, is the latest member of the team to join the army. He has been accepted for the aviation branch and is awaiting call.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb.—Branch Rickey, president of the St. Louis Nationals, is trying to arrange an exhibition game with the Kansas City club of the American Association to be played in Kansas City on the Cardinals' return trip from the training camp. Manager Gangel of the Kansas City club is expected to set a date within two weeks.

Detroit, Mich., Feb.—The signed contracts of Outfielder Harry Heilmann and Pitcher Eric Erickson have been received by the Detroit Americans.

Heilmann improved greatly as a fielder last season when he was given Sam Crawford's job in the right garden. He hit close to .300 and Jennings expects he will do even better this year.

Erickson was the star twirler of the Pacific Coast league where he made a remarkable record. He won 31 games, a record for any league last season. He pitched 443 2/3 innings and opposing clubs averaged but 1.93 earned runs per game. He struck out 307 men and passed 152 batters.

St. Paul, Feb.—The St. Paul club of the American Association, already hard hit by the war, is prepared to lose two more players. Harry Glenn, a catcher, and "Duke" Duncan, an outfielder, have been placed in class I of the draft. Neither is married. Glenn may be rejected however, because of a damaged finger.

Louisville, Ky., Feb.—Bats—14,400 of them—short ones, long ones, thick and medium are somewhere on the high seas, dodging German submarines, on their way to the baseball enthusiasts of the American troops in France.

The bats were shipped from a local factory by orders of the Y. M. C. A. and went forward under a special priority ruling which is expected to insure their arrival at a French port within the next two weeks. If no mishap overtakes the shipment the soldier-ball players will stage a little spring training season of their own behind the lines.

Detroit, Feb.—Many of the fastest swimmers in the United States have entered the Central A. A. U. championship meet to be held here on Saturday (Feb. 23). The contests will be decided at the Detroit Athletic Club.

This will be the third tournament held here this winter and the series will be closed with the national A. A. U. championships in March.

The program for Saturday includes four championship events for women and three for men. Several events for local high school swimmers have been added.

Detroit's array of women swimmers hope to score heavily in the championship races. It is not certain that Thelma Darby, of Indianapolis, will compete but if she does, it is conceded that she will probably stop the Detroiters in one or more of the short distance events.

Perry McGilivray and "Bud" Whalen, of Chicago, are among the male stars listed to compete. McGilivray showed his class here last year when he defeated Duke Kahanamoku, the speed swimmer from Hawaii.

Cleveland, Feb.—Two world's champions and two former champions are to play exhibition cue matches in a series here for the benefit of the American Billiard Players' Ambulance fund. The series will open February 25, and will continue thru March and most of April.

The title holders are Augie Kieckhefer, the world's champion three-cushion billiardist and Frank Taberski, world's champion at pocket billiards. The ex-champions are Alfredo de Ciro and Charles McCourt, former holders of the world's three-cushion title.

Cleveland's quota is $15,000 of the $500,000 to be raised in America to equip ambulances for service in France.

The association of billiard room proprietors has arranged for the men to meet Cleveland's stars of the cue, among whom is Pierre Maupome, champion of the Interstate Three-Cushion League.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb.—Altho the University of Michigan's baseball team will not make a Southern trip this spring, indoor practice is under way and a number of home games will be played. It is hardly possible that Michigan will have a classy team this year as many of her best players are in war service but Coach Lundgren has a few experienced men left and hopes to build up a fairly fast organization from untried material.

Parks and Morrison, the veteran battery are back. Ruzicka, pitcher on the freshman team last year and his catcher, Genebach, also are expected to be in the squad. Not one member of the 1917 infield or outfield is back in school. Captain Brandell, Niemann and Newell have graduated. Horwitz, Dancer, Walterhouse, Reem, and Kirchgesner, have enlisted.

Two men from the freshman nine who are expected to make good are Kobe, second baseman, and Froemke, the football player, who is a third sacker.

CAMP TAYLOR LIBRARIES

Eight Branches Are Conveniently Located.

Camp Zachary Taylor, Ky. Feb. 22.—With the library at Camp Zachary Taylor in full operation, branches are being established throughout the reservation for the convenience of the soldiers of the National Army. The branches have been located in the eight Y. M. C. A. service buildings and the three Knights of Columbus buildings.

These institutions each have a small library of their own, but the number of their books are more than doubled by those sent by the main camp library. The books will be changed constantly. The circulating system will keep a new supply on hand and will make it possible for the men to obtain the volumes they desire to read near their own barracks.

The library is maintained by the American Library association. The building is the most attractive one in the camp. Recently the patronage almost has doubled. In addition to fiction there is a great demand for technical information, especially among the students in the various schools. The main library has upward of 12,000 books, a great many of which were donated by various persons throughout the country. Some of their donors wrote their names on the fly leaf of the book they gave, and members of the 84th Division are addressing letters to them expressing their appreciation.

Our new spring caps for boys and men, 50c, $1.00 and $1.50 are here—at Tomlinson's.

Make Your Own Cough Syrup and Save Money

Better than the ready-made kind. Easily prepared at home.

The finest cough syrup that money can buy, costing only about one-fifth as much as ready-made preparations, can easily be made up at home. The way it takes hold and conquers distressing coughs, throat and chest colds will really make you enthusiastic about it. Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex (60 cents worth). Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Shake thoroughly and it is ready for use. The total cost is about 65 cents and gives you a full pint—a family supply—of a most effective, pleasant-tasting remedy. It keeps perfectly.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the inflamed or swollen throat membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough will disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, whooping cough or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is known the world over for its prompt healing effect on the throat membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

DULL AND SHARP SHOOTING PAINS

Michigan Lady Suffered Such Pains
In Back and Head, But Says
Cardui Stopped These Bad Spells.

Palmyra, Mich.—Mrs. Chas. T. Fuller, of this place, writes: "In 1911 I got run-down, and I suffered great pain...with both dull and sharp shooting pains...also back and head. I was weak and could only drag around, and should have been in bed, for I really wasn't able to be up. At times I would have spells that would be so bad I'd have to go to bed, and suffered intensely..."

I decided to try Cardui, and saw a great improvement in less than a month's time. I used 7 or 8 bottles and was stronger...I got so much better that my strength returned and my work was easy for me. Cardui did me a world of good. It built me up in health and strength. I haven't had one of those bad spells since. I haven't had to take any more medicine since or have any doctors either and have been able to do my work right along. I recommend it to other women highly as the best medicine I know of for women who suffer from female trouble."

If you suffer from female troubles, follow this advice. Get a bottle of Cardui today and give it a thorough trial. It should help you, as it has helped thousands of other women in the past 40 years. At all druggists.

HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS HELPING TO WIN WAR

Both Boys and Girls are Doing Work Along Lines of Food Conservation and Farm Work—Work is of Great Interest.

Whatever shortcomings there may be in our city certainly there is no lack of patriotism in the public schools in general and in the high school in particular. Nor is it by any means taken out in words alone which as all right as far as they go, but deeds that count are the order of the day.

The absorbing question, how to help win the war, is uppermost and has taken tangible form and Principal Callahan says this is the only school in the county which is making a specialty of the work but he thinks it is the only one in the state in which classes are enrolled in these special branches.

There is a special course for the girls in food conservation and they do practical work right along and 75 girls are enrolled in the class in addition to domestic science and anything else.

The state is very liberal in the matter of bulletins and displayed in the class room are many, among them such as commercial evaporation of fruits, drying fruits and vegetables, home canning, corn meal as a food product and ways of using it, bread and bread making, how to select foods which the body needs, etc., etc., and how to plan meals, nine tested palatable recipes, economical diet and cookery in times of emergency.

Practical suggestions for food conservation, choose your food supply weekly, vegetables for winter, food for your children, plenty of potatoes, book from Hoover containing lectures on canning and home cooking, official recipe book, a whole meal in one dish, make a little meat go a long way, do you know corn meal? Do you know oatmeal? Instead of meat.

The girls are taught that it is not the great and spectacular things which alone count but the homely every day duties as well and to that end they are encouraged to bring each Monday a diary of each day of the week telling what they have done, the report to be signed by the mother. Some of these are very interesting and practical. Principal Callahan permitted the Journal reporter to copy some of them. The young ladies will pardon the liberty taken with their names. No harm is intended.

Bethsheba S.—Monday, helped get breakfast and washed the dishes. Tuesday, made my bed for the first time, didn't succeed very well. Wednesday, made three beds and did better. Thursday, made biscuits for breakfast; brother said they wouldn't do for cobblestones either. Friday, helped get breakfast and washed the dishes; got supper all by myself and washed the dishes. Saturday, cleaned the sitting room and sleeping rooms and washed the dinner dishes.

Samantna —Monday, rose at 5:30 and helped get breakfast; brother thought I was losing my mind but told him I was finding it. Tuesday, washed the breakfast and dinner dishes. Wednesday, made a conservation dish of oatmeal which all pronounced a success. Thursday, tried my hand at cornmeal but didn't succeed quite so well but will try again. Friday, corn cakes a success voted by all. Saturday, helped do the week end cleaning and mother said I did well.

Jerushal Y.—A neighbor sick and put in my spare time there this week. Washed and dressed the baby. Helped get the meals as far as time would permit. Made a few conservation dishes which the man of the house said were all right. Made the beds.

Melitabel Z.—Rose at 5:30 and helped mother get breakfast and washed the supper dishes. Tuesday, made some corn meal dishes from conservation recipes. Wednesday, washed the dishes at breakfast and supper. Thursday, made some conservation dishes which were a success. Friday, rose early and prepared breakfast. Saturday, tried my hand at breadmaking; mother says I'll succeed if I persevere.

Jemima Y.—Monday, got breakfast and succeeded all right; first time in my life. Tuesday, got supper and made a conservation dish of oatmeal. Wednesday, got breakfast and made my bed but mother said it was a poor job. Thursday made two beds this morning and did better, mother said. Friday, tried my hand at cake without eggs, spices, butter, or cream; father said it was good. Saturday, tried making bread and think with perseverance I'll get there.

These are a few of the diaries the reporter was permitted to copy and they certainly reflect greatest credit on the young ladies. The boys are in a special class of training, "How to Win the War." This is also a special course and cannot fail to be of great value. The boys are to be commended for giving their attention to it and it is to be hoped that they will stick to it and make good use of the lessons they are getting. Some of the bulletins sent them are: Boys' school garden; Apples and how to grow them; Sea Island Cotton; Sand Clay and Burnt Clay Roads; Ever bearing strawberries; How to grow an acre of corn; Principles of horse feeding; Cow peas; Barnyard manure; Sorghum syrup manufacture; Turkey raising; Breeds of dairy cattle; Swine management; Commercial fertilizers; Preparation of fertilizers from municipal waste; Boys' pigs clubs; Good seed potatoes and how to choose them; Weeds, how to control them; Drug plants under cultivation; Breaking and training of corn. From these subjects it will be seen at once how practical is everything attempted. It is hard for us here in the interior, educated to have an abundance of what we want to realize that we are engaged in a gigantic war and we must do our best to help win it for if our enemies win we shall be subjected to the

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY

Ideals Which Brought Victory for The American Colonies.

Peoria, Ill., Feb. 22.—That the ideals which brought victory to the American colonies in the war of the Revolution and which stamped out slavery in the civil war are again at stake, not only in this country, but throughout the whole world, was the principal theme of an address by Charles S. Whitman, governor of New York, at the Washington Birthday banquet of the Creve Coeur club here tonight. He said in part:

"The Declaration of Independence was the precursor of the Emancipation Proclamation. It was only a matter of years when a people with the ideals of our forefathers expressed in their immortal words, would themselves banish slavery from this land. Either the doctrine of the fathers was true or it was false, and the great captain whom Illinois gave to the Union, spoke truly when he said: 'The country will be all slave or all free'."

"The outcome of the Revolutionary War was certain from the beginning. The armies of the King were fighting against an ideal. Seven years or seventy years would have made no difference in the final outcome. The men who wore the blue were fighting for an ideal. The men who wore the grey, sincere and honest as many of them were, were standing in the way of the onward sweep of humanity."

"It is vain to discuss here in detail the events immediately preceding the outbreak of the war in Europe. It is easy to blame this man or that man, deserving as some are of blame to criticize this or that particular act of those charged with the responsibilities of government in various nations over the sea. But in the last analysis, there is just one reason which made this war inevitable. Horrible as has been the awful slaughter which we have been compelled to contemplate—the war has to come, there is not room enough in the world for the two ideals of government, of the relations of man and man represented by the contending forces; once and forever, God grant, the issue is going to be fought to the finish."

"This is not a war on the German people, nor is Germany merely making war on the people of other lands. This is a combat between ideals of government, Belgium, broken, but unconquered; England, struggling as she has never struggled before; the Sons of France, as they die, are just as truly fighting for an ideal as were the ragged Continentals at Saratoga or at Yorktown, or the man whose bloody feet left their impress in the snow at Valley Forge."

"I know that there was a Germany in the past that her sons and daughters have had every reason to love—a Germany of poetry and song, and of literature, art, science and of education of folk song and folk lore and folk love. But that Germany is no more. It has given place to a Germany of the iron heel and the clanking saber—to a mighty nation dedicated to the proposition that might makes right—that there is no such thing as freedom of thought, freedom of heart, or freedom of life; that its power to slaughter is the final test of a nation's greatness; that slavery is the natural and proper condition of the human race; that he alone may be master who can wield the sword; a Germany even whose clergy will approve the disregarding of international law, the violation of sacred treaties; a Germany that has transformed even its best born and best trained into plunderers and butchers—a Germany that must go down if righteousness and peace are ever again to prevail on earth."

Gov. Whitman then reviewed the conditions under which the National Army was raised and expressed deep confidence in the troops. "They are all right," he exclaimed and continued: "Somewhere in France—and by and by, just as truly as there is a God in Heaven, somewhere in Germany, they will demonstrate their devotion to the ideals which they have learned in American homes. It is for us to see to it that we, the men and women behind the men behind the guns, act well our part; that nothing be done and that nothing be said to bring aid and comfort and encouragement to the enemies of our land."

"In 1918, as in 1776, pledging ourselves as they pledged themselves, as they committed their cause to the arbitrament of the sword under the leadership of the man in whose name we are gathered—we declare these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal * * * And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other, our lives, our Fortunes and our sacred Honor."

PATRIOTIC EXERCISES AT DAVID PRINCE SCHOOL

Tableau, Music, Decorations and Much Patriotism Manifested.

A very delightful exercise was given yesterday afternoon in the David Prince building by the pupils of that school under the able direction of Miss Jennie Grassley, one of the teachers. The young lady explained that the preparation had been rather hasty and brief but the quality was excellent and every still life picture was vociferously endorsed as it deserved. The theme was "The Spirit of '76 Compared With That of 1918." Excellent music was furnished by an Edison diamond disc phonograph loaned by Brady Brothers and added much to the pleasure of the occasion. The costumes and stage settings of the various tableaux were correct and the pupils did their parts admirably.

Columbia, Uncle Sam, the Boys in Khaki, the Red Cross Workers, the Tillers of the Soil, the Men of '76, all were faithfully depicted. Obligations to Brady Brothers, Illinois College, Prof. Ames, Mallory Brothers, E. E. Crabtree, Dr. Griswold and J. W. Merrigan for loans of articles were made.

The following was the program: "Yankee Doodle"—Phonograph. "Send Me Away With a Smile"—Phonograph. "Spirit of '76"—Tableau. "Songs of Other Days"—Phonograph. "Medley of Patriotic Airs"—Phonograph.

"Red Cross at Work"—Tableau. "Flower Show"—Phonograph. "Army Bugle Calls"—Phonograph. "Uncle Sam at Work"—Tableau. "Gloria"—Phonograph. "My Country 'Tis of Thee"—Phonograph. "Columbia Feeding the World"—Tableau. "Star Spangled Banner"—Phonograph.

These buildings will also provide administration centers for the field director of the Red Cross, emergency lodging for summoned relatives of those soldiers dangerously ill and for Red Cross nurses and staffs.

Among the features of the convalescent houses will be sun parlors, stage, motion picture screen, billiard room, library, reception room, assembly hall and bed rooms. Each building will be 100 by 100 feet and two stories high.

THE REMOUNT STATION
Thousands of Horses to Be Broken and Trained.

Camp Funston, Kans., Feb. 22.—Risks not often met with on the battle field but equally as hazardous are a part of the daily routine at the remount station at Camp Funston, where for hours every day the fun is fast and furious as a "puncher" from the west is put to the test to curb the spirit and cunning of an almost incorrigible horse which has been sent to the station from some one of the many horse and mule marts of the country.

The Camp Funston remount station includes in its personnel a number of men from western states such as Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico who have literally grown up with horses. H. V. Shuler, for instance, late trick rope artist and star rider with a Wild West show, is a soldier at this auxiliary remount station. The station is under the command of Major Robert Blaine.

The horses and mules come to the station branded for the particular use in the service to which their build seems to fit them. All are to be broken to saddle and harness. When a horse arrives at the station, a description of it is taken and it is given the Malleen test for glanders, vaccinated for distemper and placed in quarantine for 21 days. Just as detention camps are provided for the enlisted men of the service, so are there detention wards for the horses. The hospital sheds and operating rooms are in charge of Lieut. H. C. Gale, chief of the veterinary corps, assisted by Lieut. H. G. Beaumont.

The remount station is composed of some 48 buildings, including the barracks and has a capacity of 5,000 animals. Approximately 9,000 horses and mules have been furnished the 89th National Army Division, and at present there are about 2,300 head on hand.

Commenting on the work of the station, "Puncher" Shuler said: "We have never struck anything yet that we couldn't ride." He admitted, however, that some incorrigibles had been met which had taxed the wits of the best of the men before they finally were conquered. Among these were "Black Demon" and "Denver Mud." It was the latter which C. E. Ruby, a "buster" from Broadwater, Neb., rode to a finish. The horse was snubbed to another, a heavy blind was placed over his eyes and Ruby swung into the saddle. Cautiously the blind was removed, but at first the horse did not comprehend. Under the prompting of Ruby, however, he responded. Head down, back arched, legs straight and stiff he gave a snappy and artistic demonstration of curbing and power. But Ruby never turned a hair or "touched leather." After his first wild spool, the black settled down into a wild run, from which he came back with his temper broken to bits.

Training schools are conducted at the remount station in army packing, horse shoeing and teaming.

Richard Butler helped represent Woodson precinct in the city yesterday.

WAVERLY TACKLES SPRINGFIELD TONIGHT

Capital City Boys Will Be Opponents of Strong Waverly Team at Waverly Tonight — Waverly Figuring on Being On Long End of Score.

The big game of the season for the Waverly basketball five will be played in Waverly this evening when the local team will meet the Springfield high school five.

The teams were scheduled for a game earlier in the year but it was canceled because of the big snow storm that blocked all traffic. However, it was possible to book the Springfield team for a game this evening and Waverly fans are looking forward to one of the greatest games ever seen on a Waverly floor.

Springfield, tho not so strong as last year, is still considered one of the most formidable foes in state basketball. Poscover in himself is a whole team and he is a hard man to keep away from the basket. It is probable that Coach Colbert has built a defense to stop Poscover but that is easier to figure on than to do.

Waverly while strong is not so strong as earlier in the season. Redfern, the star center of the team, has been out of the game due to an injury when he was accidentally shot while out hunting. However, it is said that he is now recovered and may be able to play this evening. It is a toss up as to who the winner will be. One thing is sure and that is that Waverly basketball enthusiasts will get their money's worth in the game tonight.

HOUSE FOR CONVALESCENTS
Indianapolis, Feb. 22.—With the announcement from the National Red Cross headquarters in Washington that a Red Cross house for convalescent soldiers soon will be erected at each army cantonment and navy training station, Manager James R. Garfield of the Lake Division, composed of Indiana, Kentucky and Ohio, stated that within a few days work of constructing one of the houses will be begun at Camp Zachary Taylor and Camp Sherman, according to word received here.

These buildings will also provide administration centers for the field director of the Red Cross, emergency lodging for summoned relatives of those soldiers dangerously ill and for Red Cross nurses and staffs.

Hard Rubbing is Wasteful

It does more to ruin clothes on washday than daily wear all week.

Wash with Fels-Naptha. It's economical. Its combination of soap and naptha cleanses so quickly that there's little rubbing to do. And it's so much easier.

HISTORY GIVEN OF FORT LEAVENWORTH

Ordain Fox Recites History of Military Post at Mother's Meeting—Homer Paschall and Earl Priest Also Speakers.

The meeting of the Mothers' Association held at the Public Library Friday afternoon was well attended, many visitors being present. The association had three soldier boys present for addresses. They were: Earl Priest of the Naval Training Station, Chicago, Homer Paschall of Camp Logan, Houston, Texas, and Ordain Fox of Ft. Leavenworth. The following history of Ft. Leavenworth was given by Ordain Fox.

The site upon which Fort Leavenworth was built was located by Colonel Henry Leavenworth, 3rd Infantry, in May, 1827, and officially declared established by the War Department September 19, 1827.

The first survey for a reservation was made in 1830 by Isaac McCoy. This official was appointed by the President to survey lands needed for a reservation for the Delaware Indians as provided for in treaty made the previous year. In order to define the boundary between the Indian lands and the lands required for military purposes the surveyor suggested to the commanding officer of the post to permit the fixing of the boundary lines for a necessary reservation, and this was done. The western line extended from the right bank of the Missouri river westward about four miles and thence north to the Missouri, which also forms the eastern boundary.

Embraces Large Acreage. A second survey was made in 1839 by Lieut. A. R. Johnson, upon the direction of the post commander, and under this survey the lines as fixed by McCoy were not disturbed except that the line along the west was withdrawn eastward and the course of Salt Creek fixed as the western boundary. The reservation as surveyed, comprises about six thousand acres, besides the timber reservation on the opposite side of the river.

The exercise of all authority over the Fort Leavenworth Military Reservation is vested in the commanding officer of the post. His control is supreme, and is subject only to higher military authority. All persons stationed, residing upon, or who may pass thru the lands within the boundaries of the reservation, are subject to the rules and regulations provided by military authority and the existing laws of the United States.

Under an act of Congress approved July 27, 1868, a grant was made to the Leavenworth & Des Moines Railway Company authorizing it to construct a line thru the military reservation of Fort Leavenworth lying within the state of Missouri. The company failed, however, before being able to carry out the promise made to the government to secure the grant. On August 2, 1871, the Fort Leavenworth Railroad Company was organized under the authority of a charter granted by the State of Kansas. This road was a part of the Chicago, R. I. & Pac. Ry., and operated on the military reservation until 1891. The post is now reached by the Missouri Pacific, Union Pacific and the Atchison, Topeka, & Santa Fe Railroads, besides the electric line.

Granted Railway Right of Way.

Prior to 1888 the post population enjoyed only such facilities to reach the city or return as could be furnished by official conveyance or private hire. In 1888 Congress granted a right of way to the Kansas City, Wyandotte & Northwestern Railway to build a dummy line between the post and the city. This line was constructed and is the foundation for the splendid rapid transit now enjoyed by the residents of the post. This is now known as the Kansas City Western Railway.

The method of supplying water for the garrison was, until 1865, of the most primitive character. It was, however, undoubtedly abreast with the times and considering the general lack of facilities at far western posts, these methods were evidently equal to the best in this section. The water was delivered in barrels which were filled on the banks of the Missouri river. The "waterworks" consisted of a six mule team and a large wagon, in which were ten barrels. The team was driven into the river and the barrels were filled by two men selected for that purpose. In this way the water was delivered to the rear of the officers' and soldiers' quarters. In 1865 steps were taken to improve the method of supplying water to the post and a pumping station was erected on the bank of the river a quarter of a mile north of the high bridge spanning the stream. With this steam pump the water was forced into a large tank, which had a capacity of 21,000 gallons, situated near the highest point of elevation on the garrison ground. The tank stood a little east of Scott avenue and south of Pope Hall. Every set of officers' quarters was supplied with a cistern for the storage of water and in the season of drouth were filled from the tank by a hose. This primitive means of securing water was used until 1883, when a modern water and sewerage system was installed.

The Naming of the Avenues.

Prior to 1887 there had been no official attempt to name the post's avenues. A board was selected that year for that purpose and decided to name all avenues running to and from the river in honor of officers of the navy, and all others in honor of officers of the army. All avenues located since that time have been named by the commandant of the service schools. Merritt Lake was named in honor of Major General Wesley Merritt, who directed the building of a small wall to form the dam. This was done for the purpose of beautifying the grounds. Corral Creek secured its name on account of its passing thru a section of the reserve which was used for many years as a mule corral. The organization at the post of expeditions in the earlier period of its history required the retention of thousands of mules for wagon trains, and a section of the reserve was necessary for a corral. This corral was abandoned in the latter eighties.

The National Cemetery at this post contains about sixteen acres, and in it are buried nearly 4,000 bodies. The body of General Henry Leavenworth, after whom the fort was named, now rests there. On Memorial Day, 1902, the exercises were held in connection with the reinterment of the remains of the late General Henry Leavenworth. It was a day that will long be remembered in the history of Leavenworth, as more than ten thousand strangers entered her gates and more than twice that number witnessed what was undoubtedly the most imposing military spectacle ever seen in the West. The body was originally buried at Delhi, N. Y.

Military Prison Established.

The United States Military Prison at Fort Leavenworth was established in 1874, and abandoned by the War Department in 1895, and then re-established in 1906. Previous to the year 1874, military prisoners were confined either at Castle Williams, on Governors Island, or in the different state penitentiaries. In 1875 the first work was done on the prison; a high board fence or "stockade" was built. The necessity for employing the labor of the prisoners in useful manufacture for the benefit of the Army, and at the same time giving these prisoners an opportunity to learn a trade that may serve them upon their discharge from prison, resulted in an order authorizing the Commandant of the prison to employ at least seventy five prisoners in making boots, shoes and other articles furnished by the Quartermaster's Department of the military service. The manufacture of these articles has been discontinued however, on account of the protest made by the labor unions. The work on the stone wall was commenced in 1877. This wall was five feet wide at the base, tapering to two and one-half feet wide at the top, and from fourteen to twenty feet high, owing to the conformation of the ground. This wall was finished about ten years later.

It was not until the year 1906 that the prison was re-established at Fort Leavenworth. Since that time it has been the place of confinement for military prisoners having more than one year to serve. Reconstruction of the old prison was commenced in 1908 and now it is one of the most up-to-date prisons in the country. Schools are maintained in the prison for the improvement of convicts and for the education of illiterates, of which there are very few.

NATIONAL IMPLEMENT INSPECTION AND REPAIR WEEK

March 4 to 9, 1918

Save Expensive Delays and Transportation Charges and help in the big drive for Greater Food Production.

If maximum crops are to be raised, all farm machinery likely to be used this year, must be put in good repair so as to avoid delays in the field.

The week of March 4 to 9, inclusive has been set aside as National Inspection and Repair Week, and the farmers of the United States are urged to inspect their implements and place orders for needed repairs that week.

The great difficulty of securing malleable and steel parts, which renders it impossible for dealers to carry the usual repair stocks, together with the delays in transportation, render it necessary to place orders for your repair requirements early.

This warning has been given by manufacturers that are up against the markets every day and actually know the difficulty in securing repair parts just when you want them.

So let's get together and order early so you won't have to lay aside some good tool just for the sake of not being able to get a simple repair.

At this time Preparedness is a Necessity.

CENTENARY SUNDAY
SCHOOL CLASSES BANQUET

Young Ladies' and Young Men's Classes Honor Men in Nation's Military Service.

A meeting of more than usual interest was held at Centenary church Friday evening when two Sunday school classes, the "Queens of Avalon," a class of young ladies taught by Mrs. Claude Vail, and the U. O. C's, a class of young men taught by Miss Myrtle Sheppard, enjoyed a banquet at 6:30 o'clock. There were about forty two present. The gathering was mainly in honor of the boys of the class who are in the country's military service today and those in the draft who are to go. Among the men of the class in the service are Corp. Warren D. Maddox, Camp Lewis, Wash.; Frank Maddox, in France; Fred Goodrick, Ft. Ringgold, Tex.; Louis Ahlquist, in France; Walter Ahlquist, in France; Richard Hillierby, Jefferson Barracks; Earl Richardson, Jefferson Barracks; Sergt. Gary H. Whitlock, Camp Upton, Long Island, N. Y.; George Gaines, Camp Logan, Houston, Tex.; John Pate, Camp Logan, Houston, Tex.; James Ledford, Camp Logan, Houston, Tex.; Otto Phelps, with the navy stationed at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba; Lloyd Wells, Camp Taylor; Robert Wiswell, Ft. Omaha, Neb.; Arthur Wilkinson in France. Arthur King, Herman Evans and several others are to be added to this list. Eugene Dods-worth will leave Monday. Among the boys in the draft are Henry Barnes, Mount Crabbe and Dorris Floreth. Earl Priest, a member of the class, at present home on a furlough from the Great Lakes Naval Training station, was present.

After the banquet which was served by the Sunday school class of young ladies taught by Mrs. W. H. Naylor, Mr. A. C. Metcalf, superintendent of the Sunday school, was introduced as toastmaster. The following toasts were given:

The call of Washington to the Boys of '76—Rev. W. R. Leslie.

The response to the call of '61 as compared with the response to the call of '17—A. C. Metcalf.

The answer to the call, a prospective Sammie—Mount Crabbe.

Messages from our boys in camp to the U. O. C's and their friends—L. Myrtle Sheppard.

Report, in person, from one of our "Jackies"—Earl Priest.

The U. O. C's, and its influence by a charter member and president of the organization—Harry Barnes.

The support of the girls of Old Centenary to our boys at the front—Mrs. Claude Vail.

A report from a former booster of the U. O. C.—Harry Maddox.

Boyless Centenary—Esther Wetzel.

The honorary members of the U. O. C's—Fred Darr.

The future of the U. O. C.—McKendree Blair.

The duties of the class to its organization—Mr. Kearns.

At the close of her toast "Boyless Centenary," Mrs. Wetzel read the following original poem:

Since coming to this banquet
For boys of Centenary church,
My mind looks to the future time
When you'll have left us in the lurch.

Our orchestra will be crippled
The singing will be lame,
And in spite of all we girls can do,
Our meetings will be tame.

We'll have to lead the Epworth League,
We may even have to usher,
And take up the collection
When your orders have come to muster.

We love Old Centenary
And to her we will be true,
But one of her great attractions
Will be gone when we lose you.

People, people I've been thinking
What a queer church this will be,
When our boys are all transported
Far beyond the eastern sea.

When at all our meetings cheerless
We'll be thinking of the time,
When you will all come back to us
Without one missing from the line.

M'ADO OSAYS FOOD
WILL BE TRANSPORTED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Director-General McAdoo today gave assurance "that so far as transportation is concerned there is no danger of suffering from a serious food shortage in the eastern part of the country."

This was prompted by a warning given by Food Administrator Hoover that unless grain and wheat movement is greatly increased in the next sixty days, the country is threatened with acute shortage of food, and the transportation of the food supplies to the allies would fail.

In a letter to Mr. Hoover the director-general declared that if the food administrator will give definite information off stocks of supplies intended for the allies, the railroads will move them promptly to seaboard. The railroad administration gave out figures showing that the movement of grain to primary markets in the west within the last ten days was far greater than in previous years. The statement was based on figures gathered by the traffic division of the railroad administration headed by Edward Chambers former traffic manager for the food administration. Other reports showed that in the nine days between Feb. 11 and Feb. 20, 28,365,000 bushels of grain were received at the principal elevator and milling centers of the west. This movement included 17,365,000 bushels of corn, much of which was soft corn which was so prevalent during the year, 9,329,000 bushels of oats and 2,446,000 bushels of wheat.

THINKS WAR WILL END IN A FEW MONTHS
CAMP DODGE, Iowa, Feb. 22.—Major General E. H. Plummer, commander of the eighty eighth national army division, in an address delivered at a Washington birthday celebration at the Camp Dodge Liberty Theater tonight said that British officers on the western front were predicting that the war would end in a few months.

"They believe that the Germans have enough and would quit today were it not for the victory propaganda which has been spread by them at home," he said. "They believe that when large numbers of American troops appear on the western front the German leaders will announce that they cannot whip the world, and will be ready to make peace on terms agreeable to the allies."

In a speech before the Des Moines Chamber of Commerce today General Plummer discussed the prohibition question briefly as it relates to the American troops.

The British soldiers are given a daily ration of rum, he said, a necessary thing according to medical officials for men under the great strain on the systems of the trench soldiers.

"I hope the prohibitionists will not be too hard on the American soldiers," the general suggested.

FARMERS RECEIVE SPECIAL CONSIDERATION
St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 22.—Farmers of the northwest and middle received special consideration late today when the grain priority order was modified so that farm implements, incubators, egg cases and egg fillers may be shipped.

Railroads of the northwest were ordered to make the modification following a conference of the northwest car service committee with Chairman Slade. The instructions came from R. H. Aiston, regional director at Chicago. The eleven states in which such shipments may be made are Minnesota, Illinois, North and South Dakota, Montana, Oklahoma, Missouri, Nebraska, Wisconsin and Kansas.

DISORDERLY RETREAT
London, Feb. 22.—A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Petrograd dated Thursday says:

"The retirement of the Northern Army is complicated by the fact that the fifth army is barring the road, encumbering it in disorderly retreat. To save the situation, the Bolsheviks are sending red guard detachments from units which are not entirely disorganized."

"Pending the German reply to Trotsky's peace offer the commander of the Western Front has ordered the retreating armies to avoid fighting with the enemy and to destroy their ammunition."

GERMAN OFFICIAL
Berlin, Feb. 22.—Via London.—British Admiralty, per Wireless.—The German official report today on conditions of the western theater says:

"On isolated sections there have been artillery and trench mortar activity and minor reconnoitering engagements on the Ypres-Roulers railway an English outpost was taken by surprise and captured. During the last three days twenty four enemy airplanes and two captive balloons have been brought down by aerial fighting or by gun fire."

LOTTERY PROMOTER ARRESTED
Aurora, Ill., Feb. 22.—Jacob Hendricks, former constable, was arrested today by a United States marshal on a charge of using the mails to promote a lottery. Hendricks recently came into prominence thru his expressed interest in German prisoners in American camps and his zeal in circulating the Republican, a Chicago paper which endorsed Mayor Thompson.

Officials say the lottery was to provide comforts for German prisoners in America.

MANY IN CROSS-COUNTRY RUN.
Ayer, Mass., Feb. 22.—John J. Moore of Boston, a member of the machine gun company of the 301st infantry, won a two and three quarter mile cross-country run at Camp Devens today in which more than 1,000 members of the 151st infantry brigade were contestants. His time was 18 minutes, 39 seconds. Stanislaus Steker of New Bedford finished second and Bernard Houghton of Taunton, third.

War News Summarized

Facing absolute subjection at the hands of the advancing Germans, the Russian premier and commander-in-chief have taken what steps they could to initiate at least a nominal defense against the invaders of their country. Orders directing that guerrilla warfare be carried on and placing Petrograd in a state of siege have been issued by Lenin and Krylenko, and it is expected that the Germans will meet with some resistance before long.

That the Teutons can be temporarily checked, is doubted, even in Petrograd. The Russian army's debacle apparently is so complete that there is no shadow of authority over its units. Berlin reports that the first Estonian regiment has deserted in a body and offered its services to the German commander who is operating in the northernmost Baltic province. The Russian navy too is completely disorganized and while it is desired to withdraw the warships from Revel and Helsingfors to Kronstadt, it is believed that this operation is impossible in view of the dispute into which the Baltic fleet has fallen.

Only the submarine boats are in a seaworthy condition, it is reported. There is as yet no definite advice as to the rumored fall of the Lenin-Trotsky government. The proclamation directing that resistance be offered to the German advance, however, did not bear the name of Trotsky who hitherto has been a virtual dictator, which may be significant.

The Germans have pushed still further eastward in the past 24 hours. In the far north the village of Haspol, on the south coast of the Gulf of Finland has been captured. Further south the city of Rzeshtsa, about 100 miles east of Riga has been entered by the Teutons who report that they were welcomed by the town.

It is noticeable that the German official reports are silent as to any progress in the region of Lutsik, but Austrian troops, under General Von Linsingen, who "are aiding Ukraine in her struggle for freedom" according to the Berlin report, have moved eastward and have joined forces with Ukrainian forces which are converging on the fortress of Dubno.

American troops, probably units of one of the national guard divisions taken to France late in 1917 are in training along the famous Chemin des Dames road and have carried out a successful raiding expedition and incidentally they have brought in the first unwounded prisoner captured by "Uncle Sam's" forces.

The heavy artillery on both sides is thundering over wide stretches of the French front along the Aisne in Champagne and up in Alsace.

No infantry fighting is reported but the activity of the enemy artillery will serve to keep the allies on the outlook for a storm of heavy German shells always has been the prelude to a hostile attack.

The Germans claim to have brought down twenty four allied airplanes and two captive balloons in the past three days.

The British forces in Palestine have captured the city of Jericho, Australian troops entering the city on Thursday. Aside from its historical and sentimental importance the capture of the city gives General Allenby control of a number of strategic roads over which to move his men and their supplies.

Within twenty four miles from the present British position is the railroad from Damascus to Mecca which has been the artery which has fed the Turkish forces operating against the Arabian tribesmen. If this road were cut it would give the tribesmen great advantage in their struggle.

Germany has officially recognized the treaty of peace arranged with Ukraine. This treaty has been bitterly attacked by the Poles and the Czechs in the Austrian reichsrath and by the Socialist leaders in Germany.

Innesbruck which has been reported as the center of the Teutonic munition plants for the Italian campaign has been bombed by allied airplanes.

GERARD OUT OF DANGER.
New York, Feb. 22.—James W. Gerard, former ambassador of America to Germany was pronounced out of danger tonight by his physician after an operation which, it was feared, might cost him his life. It was the first intimation to the public that Mr. Gerard was ill.

Mr. Gerard according to Dr. Lee M. Hurd, his physician, had been suffering for some time from nose and throat trouble and his work in the prison camps in Germany intensified the disease. Recently it became apparent that an operation was necessary and last Wednesday it was decided that it could no longer be delayed.

LOCAL BOARD COMPLETES MONDAY ARRANGEMENTS

Morgan County Contingent for Camp Taylor Will be in Charge of Orderly Raymond E. Miller.

The local exemption board was busy Friday completing arrangements for sending the last increment of the Morgan county quota of the first national army to Camp Zachary Taylor. The members of the board have selected Raymond E. Miller, 523 Pine street, this city, as orderly in charge of the squad. Mr. Miller is an electrician and has been employed recently in the engineering department of the Railway & Light Co. Four assistants to Orderly Miller, or squad leaders, were also appointed. These squad leaders will be Ernest J. Wheeling, 709 W. North street; Robert A. Bergland, North Webster avenue; Eugene Dodsworth, 610 South East street and John T. Taylor, Chapin. It is desired that all squad leaders should report at the office of the board this morning either in person or by phone when further instructions will be given them.

Every registrant to go to Camp Taylor Monday afternoon is required to appear at the office of the local board on the second floor of the Ayers bank building, at 10 o'clock Monday morning for instruction. Members of the board stating yesterday that any failure on the part of men to do so would make them liable to serious penalty. Beside the thirty men from this county to go to camp one additional man will be mobilized from Jacksonville by transfer. This 31st man will be Seth Fetherkile, Waterloo, Iowa. Mr. Fetherkile is at present at Murrayville and was granted authority to mobilize with the Morgan county boys rather than return to Iowa.

Adjutant Green stated yesterday that it might be well to call attention to the equipment which the men should take with them Monday. The suggestion was made that a light handbag containing toilet articles, an extra pair of comfortable shoes, four suits of underwear and six pairs of socks be taken and also if the men so desire they may take one woolen blanket preferably of a dark or neutral shade and this must be tightly rolled and bound together at each end of the roll.

After the men report to the office of the board at 10 o'clock Monday morning they will be at liberty until 2:30 in the afternoon, at which time they will again meet at the exemption board office and march in a body to the court house where they will receive final instructions and advice.

The exercises at the court house will be opened with prayer by Rev. W. E. Sponts. State Auditor Andrew Russell will be present and deliver the farewell address to the boys, giving them sound counsel and advice. The board was fortunate in securing the services of the state auditor at this time. As he has one son in France and another in the service of the government in this county it was thought he would be an eminently suitable speaker on this occasion.

Following State Auditor Russell's address Adjutant H. P. Green of the exemption board office will address the men on the subject of soldiers' and sailors' insurance. This is at the request of the board and the Red Cross society. Final instructions to the men will then be given by Chairman Miller Weir.

Carl Weir will be master of ceremonies and chief marshal in charge of the parade which will follow the exercises at the court house. The Boy Scouts and a detachment of the G. A. R. will accompany the men to the Altan station and music also has been arranged for the procession.

In addition to the orderly and squad leaders the following men will entrain Monday afternoon:
